Consider the statement  $SP_n$ :  $Sp^n+q^n$  is even for all  $n \in \mathbb{N}$ . Question: What is the order of induction for  $SP_n$ ? A: The answer is  $n+1$  by induction on  $n$ . The idea is that  $Sp^n$  is already even for all  $n$ , but when you add  $q^n$  the result may be a larger even number. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a process for producing a ceramic substrate by printing conductive paste by means of a screen printing method, and also to a ceramic substrate produced by this process. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, with the expansion of the use of electric and electronic equipment and improvement of the performance of the equipment, the power consumption in a server system, such as a personal computer or a server computer, has tended to increase year after year. To improve the performance of equipment used for, for example, communication or information processing in the server system, a reduction of the size of the equipment and increase of the integration of electronic components are being pursued. Such a trend is also true for the power supply system of the server system. The power consumption of the power supply system is increasing at an annual rate of approximately 10%. In view of this, a power supply system that can reduce the
