There may be many reasons why you want to buy a iPhone X, but the primary reason for purchase is mainly to give a style statement to the people. Technology has indeed made a major impact on many aspects of our lives. It has brought a revolution in the field of technology.Q: python SimpleHTTPServer delay I'm using python's SimpleHTTPServer to serve a few of my files, and I've noticed that if the files are served up quickly, everything's fine. But if I manually visit the links and when I'm in the tab for a second or two before the page loads, the file doesn't load. I know it's a big problem, but I'm not sure where to start. I'm new to programming/server programming and python in general.

from SimpleHTTPServer import SimpleHTTPRequestHandler httpd = SimpleHTTPRequestHandler()
httpd.socket =
socket.socket(socket.AF_INET, socket.SOCK_STREAM) httpd.socket.set

```
sockopt(socket.SOL_SOCKET, socket.SO_REUSEADDR, 1) httpd.socket
.setsockopt(socket.SOL_SOCKET, socket.SO_KEEPALIVE, 1) httpd.socket. setsockopt(socket.SOL_SOCKET, socket.SO_REUSEADDR, 1) httpd.socket.setsockopt(socket.SOL_TCP, socket.TCP_NODELAY, 1)
httpd.socket.bind(('127.0.0.1', 9090)) httpd.serve_forever() A: When SimpleHTTPServer is running, it uses a thread that runs the handler and is waiting for requests. If you pause and then resume your browser before you see a ba244e880a
