I've tried using this regex: `/]class=".?">(.)+/` But it didn't work. I get it only for the first string in the array. The second string still gets the whole HTML of the page. How can I do it? A: That's simple, try this: `Regex rx = new Regex(@"]class=""\w""(.*?)", RegexOptions.Multiline); Match m = rx.Match(@""); for (int i = 1; i` When a person has experienced a serious head injury and is still living with the consequences today, most people would assume that person is on disability benefits, but that isn't always the case. While the exact number of people with disability benefits is unknown, those who do receive benefits are mainly from two groups: people who work and experience long-term medical problems and people who are unemployed and have no other resources. When it comes to people who have been injured while on the job, in a recent study released by the Institute for Work and Income, we learned that approximately 19 percent of workers who were injured while on the job and on disability benefits continued to work at some point. Another recent study by the same institute indicates that almost 30 percent of workers who have been injured while on the job and on disability benefits return to work after the injury. In the end, it's clear that workers are more likely to remain on disability

Mujahidin RSP, Karachi, Pakistan, 1988 A sample of the text is provided below (translated from the original in Arabic script by Muhammad Asif). The Quranic passages are highlighted in bold. Some lines are marked with brackets "[Quran]". In the name of God, the Exalted, the Merciful

1. Who is better than those who emigrate in the way of God from their homes to seek out God's approval and to try to establish regular prayers and a firm fast, even though they were previously occupied with the things of this world? - [6:75, 1]
2. The nearness of God and His angels to those who desire Him is comparable to the closeness of this sky to the earth. - [25:40,1]
3. The highest of you in the heavens and the earth is God, and those who worship Him out of love and who have been granted certainty about their Lord. - [28:14,1]
4. Those who believe fight in the cause of God, and those who reject God fight in the cause of idols; so fight the minions of the devil. - [4:76,1]
5. O Prophet, follow the best of the messengers, God has chosen you over them all. And God has revealed to you the book before it was revealed to any of the messengers. So take counsel with those who seek guidance from God, and if you find that they are on a right path then do not distort their words. And be patient with those who differ with you; God will bring them into the right path. - [2:136,2]
6. There is a fire which you shall bequeath, wherein are the faces of the messengers. So why should you fear the Fire? - [3:40,1]
7. A sign for those who believe is the life of this world, and the hereafter is better for those who believe; and the word of God is Truth. - [3:43,1]
8. Those who believe in the signs of God, and when they are called to faith, establish prayers, and spend of what We have provided them, it is for them a garden; beneath which rivers flow. God will admit them into the greatest happiness; and what is being earned will be doubled for them, and they shall enjoy pleasure for what they did, and they shall
