Then you can create a new video that play all your clips, and loop them in different intervals. Here is a typical example: Chroma and Saturation To change the colors, you need to use the Chroma Key option on the Format tab of your video window. Here is how to use it: With the clip in the video editor, select the "Add Chroma Key" option on the Format tab. Now you can enter the settings of the key. For example, if you want to fade in your new clip, you can use the fill color to mask the parts you don't want to show. Soloists is the perfect tool to create the perfect background. Imagine a "Hall of Fame" for your favorite bands. You can even put music and lyrics as subtitles. You can find this video from my book Making Sintel.
