Connectivity Fixer 2.6 is a free utility designed to quickly fix Internet connectivity issues. In short, the program is useful for quickly repairing Internet connection issues. All that is needed is a working Internet connection to use the tool. In practice, users are provided with two options to quickly deal with Internet connectivity problems. Additionally, the program allows you to view relevant details from the past, such as IP addresses, connection/loading times, and DNS results. Connectivity Fixer automatically detects and quickly fixes Internet connection issues. As mentioned before, Connectivity Fixer is designed for situations in which it is not possible to access a specific website or the connection drops out unexpectedly. The tool utilizes an algorithm based on packet sniffing to determine the cause of the problem and resolve it. Since it doesn't require administrative privileges, you don't need to face any inconvenience or allow anybody to control your computer. In cases in which it detects network issues, the program automatically tries to make the problem go away, without having to be asked to perform any action. It is also capable of tracking down the root of the problem and displaying a list of related information. A tool for quickly identifying Internet connection issues and fixing them Connectivity Fixer has an in-built list of well-known tools that come bundled with the application. However, you can also add third-party tools (such as httpcon.co) to the list if you want the tool to automatically identify the problems. Another feature implemented in the program is the ability to monitor your connection every 30 seconds. When a problem is detected, the program is capable of letting you know what the problem is. It also provides you with the option of automatically fixing the issue or a manual fix. In the latter case, you will be prompted to provide a proxy server, proxy port, and IP address.

In addition, the program is capable of notifying you when network activity is detected and when a problem is resolved. You can choose the type of notifications you want to be issued. The following notification settings are available: To further eliminate problems on-the-go, Connectivity Fixer can identify and reconnect to the problematic website, as well as to a specific port. These actions are applied to all connections that are interrupted unexpectedly, with the exception of VPN connections.
