WordToWeb

The number of digital documents has exploded in the last decade. If you are trying to find a way to create a computerized version of a paper publication that can be easily edited and/or updated, you've come to the right place. WordToWeb will automatically convert complex Microsoft Word documents into finished HTML publications - saving you hours of manual HTML editing. WordToWeb can convert hundreds of documents at a time, break long documents into linked HTML pages, create an HTML table of contents and index, generate thumbnails for embedded graphics, and handle navigation links, cross-references, footnotes and other details. HTML publications created with WordToWeb can be updated with a click of the mouse--making it easy to keep online information up-to-date even when the source documents change frequently. WordToWeb includes dozens of new features, including support for master pages (which let you create a template using any HTML editor and then automatically generate publications conforming to the template), an optional dynamic expanding/contracting table of contents, support for cascading style sheets, and a powerful new batch/command line mode. WordToWeb has been one the the leading HTML conversion products since 1997 and is relied on by thousands of users.
