Denemo The ubiquitous musical sheets are the backbone of most popular tracks today. However small their exposure is, they still have to be generated, and it is precisely for this task that Denemo has been created. With it, one can build original compositions and even transcribe MID tracks automatically. Cookie notice:

Q: Is there an easy way to manage NuGet packages in Visual Studio 2012? The NuGet Package Manager for Visual Studio 2010 is cumbersome and awful. I tried it to update an existing NuGet package and it wanted me to uninstall all other packages that had been installed. Then it asked me to download just the specific package it needed, but it failed on downloading the package. I couldn't install any updates or delete previous packages without wiping the whole of VS. I have tried adding the NuGet Package Manager to the "Extensions" menu and the "Tools" menu in VS but it won't appear in either menu. Is there something I'm doing wrong? A: I have tried adding the NuGet Package Manager to the "Extensions" menu and the "Tools"

With Denemo one can create musical scores using the concepts of music theory and notation software. Denemo can also be used to transcribe MIDI files, or even to create your own MIDI file from scratch. It will even convert files to mp3 files. You can play any music file (MIDI, MIDI.SAF, WAV) with three ways: playback, re-transcribe, and recreate the score. You can even add notes, music theory and links to other documents. It offers a wide range of features and functions, so you can use this editor to make high-quality musical scores for yourself. You can save them as PDF, PNG or MID file. The download size is 471M Upgrade version is 14.95 Band-in-a-Box is a professional instrument and software package for performing, recording, editing and remixing of audio and MIDI files with real-time pitch-correction (transposition) of over 6500 leading and emerging virtual instruments. It is licensed and priced for the professional music market. It doesn't matter what your musical instrument is, Band-in-a-Box will give you the tools to create your own songs. The software's jaw-dropping capabilities enable you to play virtually every kind of instrument. There are hundreds of virtual instruments available, including the industry standard industry leaders such as the famous "Pianoteq," to the elite models from "ZynAddSubFX". Band-in-a-Box provides thousands of free samples that can be extracted from the virtual instrument in order to use as audio loops or parts in your song. With such a wide range of samples, you can expand your repertoire quickly and easily. Band-in-a-Box is a feature rich software, with thousands of realtime patches, EQ and FX systems, and a host of innovative algorithms. It provides state of the art effects systems such as Logic's distortion, effects and reverb, and also provides complete audio playback controls for singers, drummers and other musicians. Band-in-a-Box is also equipped with the innovative real-time pitch correction feature. After recording your audio or MIDI, the software automatically adjusts the playback pitch to match the pitch of the notes originally recorded. And if the recording was made from the instrument itself, Band-in-a-Box will also adjust the playback pitch to match the notes being played. This allows you to edit out any slight pitch errors or recording problems.
