WD SmartWare Software Updater Description: Updates the Western Digital Backup Software to the latest version and updates My Book Backup Software for portable hard drives to the most recent version.Legendary singer-songwriter Billy Joel has come out with a statement about his performance of a US benefit concert last week that was broadcast by CCTV. The Hong Kong event reportedly did not have the approval of the Hong Kong government and was, in any case, a "private" concert, not an official fundraising event. The Hong Kong government is determined not to allow any more concert performances to take place unless they are officially sanctioned and licensed ones. But, in a statement on a website set up by the government to keep Chinese netizens informed about the Hong Kong event, Joel says he did not know about the protest beforehand, and his performance on the show did not "contribute to or support the protests" in any way. The show, titled "Billy Joel for Russia", was aired on CCTV's China Central Television. The concert was organized in support of Russian opposition figure Alexei Navalny, who is running for the Russian presidency in March's elections. Beijing has been trying to steer an independent course since it gained greater control over Hong Kong in 1997. But the city is firmly aligned with the US and other democracies in opposition to Beijing's attempts to exercise more influence. Prior to Joel's performance, a bailiff demanded that Joel not give any money to the cause being supported by the fund, according to reports. He received a US$250,000 fee from the organization, and the Hong Kong government has reportedly given him a $US400,000 grant, according to the reports. The Hong Kong government has insisted the concert was not a "gift" and Joel has "taken advantage of the situation for commercial purposes", reports the South China Morning Post. In his statement, Joel
