(b) Description of the Related Art An organic light emitting diode (OLED) is a light-emitting device which has advantages, such as a wide viewing angle, a high contrast ratio, and a fast response time, and is fabricated at a low cost, as compared with a light emitting diode using an inorganic material. Therefore, the OLED has been spotlighted as a next-generation display device. An OLED may be classified as a top emission type OLED or a bottom emission type OLED according to a path of light emitted from an organic emission layer.
