I want to use DiskLruCache as cache of images. Is it OK to store images only in DiskLruCache, or I should save them in some folders, that is, SD Card? What's the difference? A: If your cache is for small images, use DiskLruCache. If your cache is for bigger images, you should store them on the SD card. Small images may still fit in memory if they don't change too often and aren't too big.
