It offers a suite of antivirus tools to protect against different types of viruses. It checks the software programs being executed on your PC for the presence of known malware. It also offers a quick scan of the system drives to detect any files with malicious software. Although AVD does not claim to be able to repair or remove virus infections it still has a few tools that could help restore files after they have been overwritten by a virus, so its antivirus module is still preferable to other free programs for this purpose. AVD Protection: The AntiVirus module keeps your PC clean and safe against all the well-known threats, such as Trojans, worms, rootkits and spyware. The module scans the system drives for the presence of Trojan horses, adware or worms, as well as spyware, and removes them. It has a good refresh rate and delivers information that matches the one shown on the ISS.net website. We have not come across any issues in our tests, since AlertCon did not cause the operating system to hang, crash or pop up error messages. The tool is light on the system resources, using a barely noticeable amount of CPU and RAM, so it doesn't slow down overall performance or interrupt user activity. Thanks to the Windows built-in features, you can also make the frame stay on top all the other windows, as well as set its opacity level to a preset value, ranging between 20% and 100%.
