Because the Internet is full of fraudsters, phishers, malware, and spam, everyone needs protection. The best way to protect yourself and your computer is to subscribe to reputable antivirus programs. Riviera.sh helps you automatically subscribe to antivirus solutions that you can use with confidence. Riviera.sh does this by finding reliable and trusted websites that sell antivirus solutions and obtaining the latest version of each antivirus program. Best Antivirus Software: The following programs are the best antivirus software we tested. AVG (Avira Free): This is the best free antivirus software available on the web. It is easy to use and very effective at protecting your computer. It has a firewall, a registry cleaner, and an Internet traffic filter. BitDefender (BitDefender): BitDefender is one of the most popular commercial antivirus products. It is easy to use and has a sophisticated user interface. It does not slow down your computer like other antivirus programs do. It protects against spyware, adware, rootkits, and viruses. McAfee (McAfee Total Protection): McAfee is one of the world's most trusted companies. It is easy to use and has a sophisticated user interface. Its strong detection feature protects you against viruses, spyware, and Internet threats. It has a firewall, a registry cleaner, and a file shredder.

The following programs are not recommended for the following reasons:

ZyXEL (ZyXEL): This product was designed by a Chinese company. It is less reliable than other products, and it has a bad reputation. It does not protect you from spyware, adware, viruses, and phishing. You need to be very careful with it. Last year, there was a huge wave of Android malware threats, affecting hundreds of millions of Android users around the world.

Phishing, fraudulent banking sites, adware, and other malware are the biggest danger for every Android user. Since a large number of smartphone users did not take any precautionary measures, they became the targets of hackers. Fortunately, most people know the danger of clicking on links sent in text messages and emails, especially those on their mobile phones.

Unfortunately, they do not know that they are also vulnerable to malware attacks. The following statistics paint a grim picture for the situation: New Android malware threats emerge every week The number of new threats appearing on Android

SplashNotes PC/Windows

SplashNotes is a simple to use and easy to implement application designed for recording notes, personal tasks or goals to be accomplished. It allows you to write and organize your notes easily and in different categories. The app's interface consists of two distinct sections: a menu ribbon that provides quick access to the most used functions and a panel with custom designed tabs. The file listing and the working space allow you to add new records quickly and organize your tasks easily. In the "Notes" section, you can add and modify notes, start and delete reminders, add projects and tasks, create lists, create notes on the fly and insert pictures. The "Outlining" tool is a convenient feature that you can use to enter or duplicate new items, remove items, move tasks up, down, left or right, create dividers, add tags, and expand/collapse the tree. It's possible to sort the items by ascending or descending order, change the view and arrange the tabs by size. Your files are accessible from the left side of the panel. To add images, you can use the clipboard or drag and drop a picture from your desktop. The search function will help you find a record quickly. The application is equipped with a tutorial that guides you throughout the process. SplashNotes doesn't provide a background process in order to reduce the burden of the operating system. For example, it doesn't require updating the notification area or taking up valuable computing resources.
