The Smart Keyboard 2 for iPad is definitely the most versatile and functional keyboard available on the market today. It also provides you with the best autocorrect functionality that we have encountered so far. But the best part about the keyboard is the per-key customizable text prediction engine which can help you perform the most common typing scenarios. It is because of the fact that the keyboard is based on the SmartKey technology and features 3 separate components. The first is the main keypad that is represented by your fingers. The second is the Multi-Touch engine which accepts inputs from both fingers and the SmartKey as well. The third and last part is the autocorrect engine which will autocorrect your misspellings based on the phrase you are typing. With the latest software update, Apple also allowed third party keyboards from third-party manufacturers to be used with the iPad. But, in doing so, it does not bring a lot of improvement over the stock keyboard. For starters, the keyboard from many competitors are bigger than the stock one, which means that they are less functional and thus are not allowed to be used. But the best part is that some users said that the stock keyboard can lead to accidents because it is so tiny. When you use the Smart Keyboard 2, you will have the options to switch your keyboards to standard, Chinese or Cyrillic layout. We strongly recommend using the standard one, as the layout is the most common and functional. But if you are up to trying the Chinese or Cyrillic, you will have to learn the layouts first. In the process, you can use the optional spell check feature and better type faster. Incorporating a few great features in this product, such as a Smart Key feature and a text prediction engine, makes it a premium product for its price. However, some minor issues are present in the software. For example, there is no way to get rid of the Keyboard Menu. What's New - Added 'Last word prediction' for words typed with the spacebar or shift key 2. Added 3D Touch quick links in the app - Other small fixes and improvements This is the first version to include version 3.0 of the AppleScript Editor. Version 3.0 includes new features, such as the ability to use CAL.
