I would like to have a total of three notification area tips: the system tray (as it is right now), the clock the same window list as the application menu. Do I need to install some sort of extension? Is it that hard? A: The way to do it is to install gnome-shell-extension-notifications which offers both a tray that shows the messages and a clock. There are also different extensions to add a menu to the system tray, but the ones that come bundled with gnome-shell are what you are looking for. SEATTLE - The Seattle Sounders have acquired Mexican international and Colombian youth international Alan Gordon from the Colorado Rapids for a 2017 MLS All-Star Draft pick on Thursday, the club announced. "Alan is a young, dynamic and exciting player and we are excited to bring him to Seattle," said Sounders general manager and head coach Garth Lagerwey in a team statement. "Alan has an opportunity to be a starter in this league and he will be a great addition to this club." Gordon, 23, is coming off his third MLS campaign and leads the league with eight assists this season. The 6-foot-3, 180-pound playmaker earned his first call-up to the Colombian National Team for a friendly
