An alternative to surgical dislocation has been advocated to treat infra-acromial impingement. This technique requires an intra-operative zig-zag fibular shift so that the surgeon can 'adjust' the fibular shift during surgery. The purpose of this study was to analyze the outcome of this technique in a series of 23 patients. At a mean follow-up of 31 months, 20 of 23 patients reported being satisfied with the outcome of their surgery. On functional outcomes, only 2 patients reported residual symptoms, and only 4 patients felt they could return to their pre-injury activities. There was no association between the presence of a significant pre-operative impingement sign and poorer outcomes. A reasonable number of patients can be expected to have an excellent outcome from this technically demanding procedure. The long-term outcome remains to be established.Here’s a picture that I had a lot of fun making, also featuring some of my favorite stars – from Mia Goth to Lola Bunny! I also have a new giveaway that you should check out, it’s with this mermaid themed tee, so get in the action! This time I’ve got a super rad post for you! A few days ago I had the most amazing interview with the brand new Seth MacFarlane themed comedy Family Guy! I may have watched that episode with my heart in my mouth, and my eyes glued shut, and it was absolutely awesome and hilarious, so I thought it would be a good idea to share some cool pics with you guys! This time there’s also a really cool link to my Flitterbeard facebook page, so check it out and be sure to give me a “Like!” I hope you’re enjoying this whole Seth MacF 09e8f5149f
