Description: Pixijs is a free, open source JavaScript library for creating graphics, animation, and HTML5 applications. It is built on top of the excellent canvas element. Since the canvas element is an open, cross-browser standard, you no longer need to worry about browser compatibility issues. That is why the Pixijs library does not contain a wrapper for browsers. This way, the library remains light-weight and platform independent. Supported Capabilities Pixijs has a powerful API for drawing graphics, which is based on SVG (Scalable Vector Graphics). In fact, SVG is an XML-based standard that allows the developers to apply graphics to the HTML DOM. With Pixijs, you can make great effects, which are supported by most web browsers in current usage. It can be used as a general image viewer, as well as create web-based games and applications. Graphics visualization Pixijs can be used to create a variety of graphic effects, which are native to the browser. It can display every graphical object from every modern browser, including SVG, HTML canvas, SVG canvas, Quartz, and more. In addition, the graphics object that
