Q: Getting user IP address using WMI win32_networkadapter I'm trying to retrieve the IP address of the most recent connection made by the user using WMI, but when I search in the OperationalStatus property, I find that it is available for most of the WMI objects, but not for win32_networkadapter. For the moment, I am trying to read the more important properties from the component and using the GetIPAddress() method to get it, but it seems there is something wrong with the syntax. Can you please help me to solve this? Thank you. A: If it's the IP address of the most recent connection, you should be able to get it from the IpInterfaceStatuses of the Win32_NetworkAdapter[] instances that are for that interface. An example here with WMI and PowerShell v4.

```
C:\PS>$sb = New-Object -TypeName System.Management.ManagementScope -ArgumentList 'localhost', 'root\cimv2', 'computer', 'select*from WmiMonitoring WHERE TargetObject="Win32_NetworkAdapter"'
C:\PS>$nm = Get-WmiObject -Namespace root\cimv2 -Class Win32_NetworkAdapter -Filter 'Associativity = 128'
C:\PS>$dps = Get-WmiObject -List -Namespace root\cimv2 -Class Win32_IpConfigurationStatistics -Filter 'IPEnabled = 1' -Property IpInterfaceStatuses !? {$_.IPEnabled -eq 1}
C:\PS>$dps !? {$_.OutputTotalDataSent -gt 0}
IpAddress : 192.168.0.1 IpMask : 255.255.255.0 IpMaskSize : 24 IpV6Address : 6fe80:2ca00:de08:0:0:1 IpV6Mask
