The system aims to provide more accurate ball decisions on any touch, more dynamic dribbling that leads to more accurate through balls, explosive passes across field and more aggressive and accurate tackling. On-ball actions provide a new context for the power of a player's body and head, and interactions with players yield new and highly context-dependent animation transitions. The subtle changes include: Enhanced ball awareness Cleaner and more fluid ball animations Smarter and more dynamic transitions for on-ball interactions Better precision for passes and dribbles More aggressive and responsive tackling More accurate crosses Many of these changes will be demonstrated in our FIFA 22 gameplay walkthrough video. HyperMotion Technology Progress Trailer HyperMotion Technology Progress Trailer Walkthrough Above: New light stick technology for improved player control and more fluid movement, along with new animations for on-ball interactions. Pro Evolution Soccer 2018 Developer | Visionaries Above: HyperMotion data is used to power more responsive player animations, more informed in-game player decisions, and larger contextual transitions. Additionally, new lighting and player AI behaviors are enabled with this data. Ace Combat 7 Developer | Visionaries Above: HyperMotion technology has been applied to the gameplay mechanics of Ace Combat 7. The analysis of the data allows us to create more satisfying animations. More accurate ball decisions allow for a more fluid interaction with the ball. As you can see from the trailer above, even in highly-realistic scenarios, FIFA 22 is still true to the reality of the sport. For example, when a player makes a tackle, the footwork is very rigid — and this is reflected in the game mechanics. This matches the way that players tackle and tackle in real life. Even in the most extreme cases where a player can place his full weight on a player on the ground, his body is always moving in the correct direction. Added to this is the fact that we can now accurately model the physical reaction of the player — for example, if the head and body of a player take their full weight into a bodycheck, the player will always receive a penalty for the foul.

Dynamic Player Animation When a player changes direction, this will affect the type of animation he or she performs. This is perfectly normal and very much the case in the real world. Players might run in a different direction and jump in a different manner when they want to

What's new:

- Career Mode (Pro-Player Career) - FIFA 22 introduces "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data captured from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay.
- Player Impact Engine - Pro-Player Career's Impact Engine matches each player's physical abilities with their technical capabilities to create more realistic and enjoyable gameplay, and more opportunities for skill execution.
- Introducing dribble and skill wheel - Uprising Mode from Pro-Player Career brings you "dribble and skill wheel" gameplay, in which a player can use their ball control talents in a variety of ways to beat more opponents. You can use this to think on your feet and beat your opponent in different ways.
- Introducing dribble - Every player now has their own individual dribble speeds, which factor into gameplay. You can use this to your advantage by accelerating to the open space and passing into a stronger player.
- Introducing pressing - Pressing has always been part of gameplay, but now players press each other more, and the effect of their on-ball pressure depends on the positioning of the opponents' body.
- Introducing attacking and defending - Improved animations and more realistic movements help create a greater connection between both the player and the ball and the defender and the goalkeeper. Off-ball actions and the correct positioning of the player and the opponent (turns or body position) help to create more realistic gameplay.
- Introducing contextual off-ball actions - Off-ball actions now affect the player as much as they affect teammates. Defenders can slide tackle a player in the perfect moment, influencing the outcome of a play.
- FIFA forecourt - Players have specific heat zones for quick delivery games, providing them a chance to be decisive when it matters.
- Introducing power off-ball actions - A new feature of Pro-Player Career adds new off-ball actions: The players with more power can push opponents around the field, or even knock the opponent off the ball.
- Introducing goalkeeper master class - The goalkeeper's regeneration system is the foundation of a goalkeeper master class.
