The growth of cryptocurrencies has been phenomenal and the market is still on the rise. Now, one thing that contributes to the vast increase in the amount of money in cryptocurrencies is the emergence of crypto exchanges. Here, you can trade at a centralized platform for an average of $300 dollars a day on an exchange like Coinbase. However, some of these platforms have been lax in their regulations, which is why you need to be wary of trading on crypto exchanges. Cryptocurrency exchanges in Canada are yet to catch up to other countries, but the thought of trading crypto in Canada has grabbed the attention of many. What is Cryptocurrency? Cryptocurrency is a digital asset which is designed to support secure transactions. Cryptocurrencies are created and shared via an open source protocol of its own.
