How to Fix Photoshop Background Issues? Below are various tips to fix background issues in Photoshop. 1. Find and remove uneven or blended areas Sometimes, you find uneven or blended areas, like clouds or a photo with uneven area. In that case, go to Select > Modify > Expand. Then, paint over the area and just press Alt + Delete (on Windows) or Command + Backspace (on Mac). After you press Alt + Delete, the area will be set to the white color. Then go to the Adjust menu > Curves and use the - (Minus) button to make it even. The following images show you how to fix uneven/blended areas in Photoshop. See also: How to Fix Background Issues with Photoshop 2. Use Filter > Pixelate > Image Smoothing This feature helps in removing blemishes and uneven surface on your photo's background. Simply go to Filter > Pixelate > Image Smoothing and select the highest option, which is the sharpest. But you can use 'Best' if you want to have good results. The following images show you how to fix background issues with Pixelate. See also: How to Fix Background Issues with Photoshop 3. Use Filter > Blur > Motion Blur This feature is very helpful to get rid of edges and prevent background edge reflections. Click on the Blur type 'Motion Blur' and just drag the slider right until it becomes a blurred image. Then, you can move or delete it as much as you want. The following images show you how to remove edges with Motion Blur. See also: How to Remove Photoshop Background Edges with Motion Blur 4. Use Filter > Noise > Add Noise This feature helps in removing uneven surfaces in your image, or if you don't want to blur it but want to add some shading. Under Add Noise, select the desired type 'Gaussian' and use the slider to give it a bright or dark texture. The following images show you how to fix background issues with Add Noise. See also: How to Fix Photoshop Background Issues With Add Noise 5. Use Filter > Blur > Unsharp Mask This feature is particularly useful to remove background edge reflections. 'Juventus vs AC Milan' - Joe Allen says 'being treated like a King' at Everton Joe Allen says he is enjoying his time at Everton and believes the new manager Roberto Martinez will succeed after he left Newcastle Joe Allen has been enjoying his time at Goodison Park under new manager Roberto Martinez, but is not sure if it will change his ambitions. Allen joined Everton on a free transfer last summer and is set to become a key player under the Spaniard. The former Swansea and Liverpool midfielder has been at the club for just over four months, but is already looking ahead to next season and claims he is being treated like a "king". "I think [being a king] is really good, it's part of the deal." Allen told Everton Player after completing his first training session. "As a footballer you get paid for your footballing talent and you get paid for other things. "I am paid a lot of money, I'm treated well. I get treated like a king." Allen claims he has an important role to play at Everton, but is yet to work with Martinez, who replaced David Moyes last month after an eight-year reign at the Stadium of Light. "I don't know the manager," he said. "I don't know Roberto Martinez that well but he has been good to me. I'm looking forward to getting to know him more. "I am confident he will do well. It's a very big club and I'm looking forward to playing my part in getting success. "It's a great opportunity. I came in the summer as a free agent. I wanted to see the club progress and try and contribute as much as possible to get Everton where we want to be. "I have come in and I have adapted well. I don't want it to sound like I am being too humble or that I didn't want to come but I have adapted well and I am in a good place. "I have settled in well here and I feel comfortable. I am enjoying the club and I am enjoying my football."Nearly one-quarter of U.S. service members based at U.S. Central Command's air base in Qatar and another quarter at U.S. Special Operations Command's headquarters in Tampa, Fla., have been removed from their positions for inadvertently violating a new rule requiring them to cover their faces with a burqa

, she had to do some work. In this morning's interview, she talked a little about her latest accomplishment. What's the job you're most proud of? I did a leather welding. The leather is taking longer to dry and it's cracked. So it was stitching and refastening. What would be your dream job? I'd like to do a whole book about life right now. Our lives are so silly. Why? Our lives are very, very serious. We live under the constant preoccupation of our existence. We are never present. We don't ever say, "OK, I'm just going to be in the moment," you know. We always have to have a problem to solve. But life is just so great, actually. It's just really great. What are your other interests? I'm learning how to play the ukulele. I met some people who are going to play a concert for us on the street next week. That's going to be really great. Do you get tired? I get tired because I get run down. I feel like I can't be in the sun. But I'm lucky to do what I do. I can get up and do it again. I feel so lucky to be doing it. What's in your world. Your email address will not be published.
