“HyperMotion Technology will make FIFA even more fun,” said Marc Eisner, Head of FIFA. “The use of real-time motion capture data means that every touch, every run, every tackle, every pass and every ball has an impact on the game. Furthermore, our unparalleled visuals are now able to more finely capture the intricacies of the game’s rules and motion, resulting in every move having an even greater visual impact. We are proud to show our fans how HyperMotion can enhance the experience of playing FIFA on both home and handheld platforms.” HyperMotion Technology is available in FIFA 22 for PlayStation®4, Xbox One and PC. It is also available in FIFA Mobile®, allowing users to experience the game on mobile devices that are connected to the Internet through a data connection. On the web, the video player can be found here, or by watching the attached video player in the mobile game (on iOS or Android).
