Shopbop.com, the fashion e-tailer, announced today that it has acquired fashion retail brand-label Meimai, a fine-lifestyle brand that caters to the urban urban hipster. Meimai will continue to operate as an independent brand and will have its own distinct website and retail stores. The announcement comes only a few weeks after the same media company known for its digital media platform Shopbop announced the sale of 50 percent of its fashion-luxe e-tailer fashionboutique.com and its subsidiary retail sites, Blowfish, for $30.6 million to J. Crew owner Ascena Retail. This is the latest in a long line of digital fashion brands that have sold to companies like Meimai; luxury clothing retailer Liberty of London also sold to Shopbop earlier this year. As Shopbop tries to compete more in-store with luxury brands like Gucci, the acquisition of Meimai adds to that evolution. In addition to the Meimai signature store in Los Angeles, the brand also has locations in Tokyo, Shanghai and London. Meimai's customers include Angelina Jolie and Khloe Kardashian, according to the announcement. "We're thrilled to have Meimai join the Shopbop family," said Scott Shellen, co-founder and CEO of Shopbop. "The company's strong design reputation and powerful online presence make it a perfect complement for our existing international offering." Meimai's director Tony Siju notes that Shopbop's e-commerce and retail strategy is much in line with his own in that it reaches an international clientele on its sites across the world. Meimai, he said, was founded to design for a global audience. "We share Shopbop's values and vision, and are extremely excited to work with them," Siju said. "We're thrilled with the Shopbop brand and I know we will do great things together." The site will continue to host the independent Meimai label. A representative for Shopbop provided this statement: "Shoptique.com has been transformed to focus solely on serving the global e-commerce market. The name of the company and the brands that we sell have changed from Shoptique.com to Shopbop."
