1) Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a coating composition that has improved scratch resistance and weather resistance. 2) Description of the Related Art Scratch resistance is required not only for vehicle parts, such as bumpers and grilles, but also for industrial parts. For the purpose of imparting good scratch resistance to a scratch-resistant coating composition, various compounds are added. Of the compounds, a large number of compounds having the structure of —SiN— containing an organic group such as a vinyl group are added. For example, the following compounds are known: polysiloxane compounds having the structure of —Si—O—(C—H)_n—(C—X)_m—(C—H)_n—Si—O— where n, m represent an integer of 1 to 3, X is a hydrogen atom, or halogen atom and X represents a chlorine, fluorine, bromine or iodine atom; and hydroxy-terminated polysiloxane polymers having the structure of —Si—O—(C—X)_m—(C—H)_n—(C—X)_m—Si—O— or —Si—(C—X)_m—(C—H)_n—(C—X)_m—Si—, where X represents a chlorine, fluorine, bromine or iodine atom and n, m represent integers of 0 to 2. However, all of these compounds have a problem in that the compounds have a small layer thickness (for example, less than 20 μm) and good weather resistance cannot be obtained. Meanwhile, some methods of providing scratch resistance with the addition of a small amount of an organic group having a large number of carbon atoms are known. For example, Japanese Unexamined Patent Application, First Publication No. 2005-104008 describes the use of an alkoxysilyl group-containing polyester or a polyether having a structure of —Si—C_p(—C_q—R)_m—CH=CH—CH=CH—C_p(—C_q—R)_m—Si— with respect to a carboxylic acid-based crosslinking agent for a hydrolysis-condensation type silane-modified polyester. Additionally, Japanese Unexamined Patent Application, First Publication No. 2001-245713 describes the use of an alkoxysilyl group-containing polyester having the structure of —
