Player Analysis Every player on every pitch has their own unique traits, strengths and weaknesses. This data combined with the new “Seasonal AI” and “Player Injury” will help AI change the way they position, prioritize objectives and conduct attacks throughout matches. Motion Capture Changes To help players find their own unique speed and acceleration, FIFA 22 introduces Dynamic Player Movement, Dynamic Player Speed and New Player Movement. These adjustments help improve the feeling of how a player should move in space, especially during vertical and lateral movement.

FIFA Ultimate Team The new Tempo Rush Seasons will provide players a chance to earn a maximum of 500 new card packs a week from September 2 to September 16. There will be two different scoring windows for players: separate challenges for the week or during holiday periods and a single "Sunday" scoring window the weekend of September 30 to October 6.

Progress View The Start Screen of FIFA 22 will give a more comprehensive view of the state of your personal progress and introduce the "Progress View." The Progress View will allow players to track their progress toward the game goals and collect chips and points for progress in certain game disciplines, such as "On-Ball," "Off-Ball" and "Defending."

Cards and Chip Packs The number of new cards, chip packs and packs per player will be tied to the progress of a player. To start, the number of new pack per day will be based on the progress of the player. As the player progresses, the number of cards and pack per day will increase. This addition will not only help with the progression of the Player Card by allowing players to work toward a new level, but will also give players the ability to earn card packs in greater frequency throughout the season.

Packs will be able to carry over from season to season for all your players. For the FIFA Ultimate Team in-game experience, the number of new packs per day for individual players will be based on the goal of the player. 2v2 Seasons Previously, players were able to compete in 2v2 Seasons during FIFA Ultimate Team Seasons as part of the “Pro Clubs” promotion. With the new 2v2 Seasons added to FIFA Ultimate Team Seasons, all FIFA Ultimate Team Seasons will be 2v2 Seasons. For more information about
