The game comes with a host of new intuitive ways to play, including: More free kicks and dribbles Better goalkeepers A new Pitch Creator mode Improved ball physics New ball visuals Improved goal kicks Enhanced motion capture technology Expanded Match Day Scenario Engine The goalkeepers feature, better free kicks and dribbles and enhanced ball physics, were of particular interest to Visceral Games, given their experience in the racing genre and technical knowledge. "We're so excited to bring our expertise to the ball," said Matt Southern, Co-Executive Producer on Fifa 22 Cracked Accounts. "You'll be able to hold your opponent with the correct cross for longer. You'll have new ways to attack the goal from distance - and keep your keeper out of the goal. In addition, we'll provide you with more creativity and in-game freedom when it comes to your style of play." When it comes to keeping the ball off the goal line, the key to success will be on the goalkeeper. Player-Manipulated Goalkeeping Tactical depth in all areas of the pitch will be a key aspect in this year's game. "Goalkeepers will go through a lot of evolution," said Executive Producer Ricky Gonzalez. "Players will have more control over their own keeper to better react to new threats. They'll also be able to craft more shots and have more on-ball movement." While the goalkeeper in last year's game was limited in terms of its use, FIFA 22 brings a large variety of new tactics and ways to play. "We've taken a big step forward in goalkeeper usage," Gonzalez continued. "You'll be able to see where your opponent is and through that, we're challenging you to be more creative with your hands, feet, and head. With this in mind, you'll be able to do the things that you wish your keeper could do for you." Improved Kick Control As a result of the new goalkeeper development, it's now easier to perform high-level acrobatics. "The lighter, more mobile goalkeeper is a big step forward," Gonzalez said
