[Whole genome sequence-based microbiology and molecular epidemiology of fatal cases of shigellosis, São Paulo, Brazil, 1996-2003]. The purpose of the study was to develop molecular epidemiology methods, through the whole genome sequence-based approach, for the analysis of Shigella spp. isolates associated with an outbreak of Shigellosis. Sixty-nine Shigella spp. isolates were analyzed by pulsed-field gel electrophoresis (PFGE) and whole-genome sequencing (WGS). Phenotypic susceptibility testing to antimicrobial agents was conducted, including ciprofloxacin, levofloxacin, ofloxacin, ceftriaxone, cefotaxime, ampicillin, ampicillin-sulbactam, trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole, azithromycin, and naladixic acid. Pulsotyping and PFGE yielded 20 pulsotypes (P) among isolates, with P5, P2, P18, and P2 related to the outbreak. WGS revealed the absence of plasmids. The strain was highly resistant to ciprofloxacin (95.6%), levofloxacin (91.6%), ceftriaxone (95.6%), ampicillin

(96.6%), ampicillin-sulbactam (96.6%), trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole (96.6%), azithromycin (95.8%), and naladixic acid (94.6%). WGS was able to characterize 96.6% of the isolates in this study. The methodology used was valid for the molecular surveillance of Shigella spp. outbreaks.

Q: How to deal with non-technical questions? This is not a matter of disagreement with people, please don't take it as such. This is a matter of questions that don't belong here. You may point out that it's not a good fit for StackOverflow and that it might be better on another Q&A site. At this point, it's clear that this is not a matter of a site being close to or far away from a technical topic. We don't close questions because they are vague or shouldn't be tagged for a technical question. We don't close questions because they are
