One of the best games of all time.The present invention relates to a measuring system that measures a displacement and a displacement speed of a moving object, and more specifically, to a measuring system that measures the displacement and the displacement speed of a moving object using a pair of sensors. Recently, a pair of sensors, one on the leading side and the other on the trailing side of a moving object, measures a displacement and a displacement speed of the moving object, such as a person, to track the person's movement. For example, Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2001-136045 discloses a system that calculates an inclination angle of a target object to detect a target object. However, the system of Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2001-136045 can detect an inclination angle of a target object, but cannot measure a displacement or a displacement speed of the target object. In addition, the system of Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2001-136045 cannot detect whether the target object is walking on the ground surface or not. at high temperature and pressure, a deposition rate of.alpha.-Si on the second n.sup.+ -type regions 6c, 6d is increased in particular. As a result, the resistance values of the second n.sup.+ -type regions 6c, 6d become non-uniform because the resistance values in the second n.sup.+ -type regions 6c, 6d are proportional to the length of the second n.sup.+ -type regions 6c, 6d./* * Copyright (c) 2018 Apple Inc.
