[FTUA.[Sex hormones, pancreas and diabetes]. Androgens are mostly implicated in the onset of type 2 diabetes, which is characterized by a delayed onset and by a continuous insulin resistance in beta cells. It is likely that this insulin resistance is the consequence of a direct effect of sex hormones on the beta-cell. In fact, androgens stimulate insulin release and at the same time reduce beta cell sensitivity to insulin. The deleterious effects of androgens are mediated by the androgen receptor in adipose tissue, liver, and skeletal muscle, and by a negative effect on several target genes in the beta cell. The optimal treatment for diabetes has been suggested to be a blockade of androgen synthesis and peripheral androgen action, such as combined androgen blockade. The deleterious effects of androgens, however, are less and less a problem as patients with these disorders are treated more aggressively. Q:

Relative compactness and maps between Banach spaces E and F . Let F be a non empty closed subset of X , $f: X \rightarrow Y$ be a continuous map and $(B_k)_{k \in \mathbb{N}}$ be a sequence of compact subsets of X such that $f(B_k) \subset B_k$. Then $f(B_k)$ is relatively compact in Y for every k . I know the fact that if U is a closed and V is relatively compact in Y then the set $f^{-1}(U) \cap V$ is compact in X . How can I conclude from this fact? A: By assumption,

$f(\overline{B_k}) \subseteq \overline{B_k}$. So $f(\overline{B_k}) \cap \overline{B_j}$ is a compact subset of $\overline{B_k}$. In other words, $f(\overline{B_k}) \cap B_j$ is a compact subset of Y . Pam Clarke
