Lsv-080/lsv-080-19Scrum Team Scrum Master At Sony, we have embraced Scrum as the basis for our Software Development Process. The Scrum Master role is crucial to the success of the Scrum teams, and is responsible for ensuring that the Scrum processes are followed and the Scrum culture is embraced by the organisation. In the Software Development Process, the Scrum Master drives the Scrum process, and ensures the alignment of the organisation on the Scrum values. As a Scrum Master, you will work with the development teams to assure that they are following the Scrum process and that Scrum is being used effectively. You will ensure that Scrum values are embedded in the development teams and organisation.Q: How to use css grids and need to know the best practice for columns I have 2 or more divs on a page with different heights that all stack on top of each other. These divs have different number of rows based on user input. The problem is that the rows should be on top of each other and when the screen is resized. Here is an example of what I am working on: From a design standpoint it is important that the content and row heights be flexible so they can stack when the screen is resized. One solution I had was to set the grid width and then use percentages to determine the height of the columns. But this seems to work only if the columns are the same height. If you need to know anything else feel free to ask. I would really appreciate any help or ideas. A: Flexbox grid can work well in a variable ratio layout like this. And it can also scale with percentage height and width values. .flex { display: flex; } .flex > * { flex: 1; margin: 0.5rem; } Molecular effects of mitoxantrone in the presence and absence of decitabine in chronic lymphocytic leukaemia.
