CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro (2022)

CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro is a piece of software that provides administrators with the possibility to take full control over the entire email flow within the company. The tool works with Microsoft Exchange Server, allowing admins to set and apply various server-sided rules for managing the email flow much easier than before. Additionally, the tool provides admins with email content control. With the help of CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro, system managers can take advantage of features such as email forwarding and filtering, as well as message categorization and rerouting. Moreover, it allows them to set auto-respond, attachment control, and email blocking rules. The software allows administrators to take over the company's entire email flow in an intuitive manner and to create various automatic server rules that enable them to handle all the traffic from a centralized interface. CodeTwo Exchange Rules Pro includes support for controlling the content for emails and for filtering it, and also allows managers to remove any sensitive or confidential piece of information from these messages to prevent them from spreading through email. Emails that fulfill given criteria can be automatically forwarded to pre-defined email addresses, and auto-respond rules can be set for those users who are not able to reply in due time. The tool also allows admins to compress, block and archive attachments, as well as to add signatures and disclaimers to all employee messages. All signatures are added server-side and can be accompanied by the company logo, pre-defined headers and footers, and QR codes. Price: $169.00 PPC: $169.00
