The Cracked SmarterMail With Keygen instant messaging feature makes all your chats private. You can have chat rooms and organize other people's conversations with ease. Simply choose the type of text chats that you want to create (for example, 'Group' or 'Private'), designate the name of the group, password and the label for the group. Access the group from the list of 'Chat Windows' and create new rooms as required. The application allows you to view members who are not physically at the chat room. You can invite the people to the group, invite only the friends and hide the people from unwanted viewers. Thus, you can have a private place to keep the members of the group engaged in a chat without being exposed by those who are not part of the conversation. The application enables you to have so many types of chats including; Instant, SMS, Chat, Video, Tagging and Voice. Additionally, you can share files, images, web links, and play media files directly from your chat. SmarterMail Description: The SmarterMail Calendar can give you all kinds of useful tools to keep you up to date. Simply install the application and you can begin using all the features easily. In addition to the Day, Week and Month views, the application allows you to create public and private calendars, join events, create Google appointments or share specific calendars with others. There are a few options in the Calendar tab, including; First, You can create a new meeting or just modify an existing one. If you're making the meeting, you can specify the time, invite the participants and send updates to them. Enter the subject line of your messages, then choose the calendar you would like to share the meeting. Another tab is the Agenda. You can use this feature to create, edit and publish your own agendas and meetings. The feature allows you to quickly create your own agenda items in minutes and send them to your contact list for them to view and reply to. To help you manage your meeting room bookings, you can import Google Calendar events and use the built-in facility to add guests, pre-book appointments and notes. The GMail notification section allows you to make your e-mails look more appealing by easily applying a variety of desktop notifications. You can activate the 'New Message', 'Contact Added' or 'File Added' notifications and schedule them to appear at pre-specified times b7e8fdf5c8
