It has decent basic image-manipulation and color-transparency controls, but you need a license to use it. It doesn't have the level of complicated editing options of Photoshop, but you get quite a bit of mileage out of it. Although Corel's program is a bit more basic, you can learn it well enough to manipulate pretty much any image with. *

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to an improved data processing system and in particular to a method and apparatus for transferring files between and among computer systems and computer programs. Still more particularly, the present invention relates to a computer implemented method, apparatus, and computer program product for transferring data files among data storage devices. 2. Description of the Related Art Data files are used to store information and data that may be used by various computer programs. There are many types of files including, for example, image files, text files, audio files, video files, configuration files, component files, database files, and other types of files. Files are stored on computer systems. Computer systems may include any type of computer system, such as a mainframe system, a mid-range personal computer system, a workstation, a desktop, a laptop, a tablet, a cell phone, or other type of computing device. A computer system may include one or more data storage devices for storing data files. Data storage devices may include, for example, hard disk drives, floppy disk drives, optical disk drives, tape drives, and other types of data storage devices. Data storage devices may be a primary component of the computer system or may be a secondary component. For example, a hard disk drive may be coupled to a computer system's motherboard for use as a primary storage device for storing data. A secondary storage device may be coupled to the motherboard for storing data. Secondary storage devices are removable storage devices that are used in addition to the primary storage device. Secondary storage devices may include, for example, optical drives and tape devices. A secondary storage device may be used, for example, to back up data stored on the primary storage device. In a small to mid-size office/home office (OHO) environment, the primary storage device may be a single disk drive. In a large enterprise server environment, the primary storage device may be a disk array. A disk array is a data storage device that is constructed from a collection of hard disk drives. A disk array may be configured with multiple hard disk drives and/or may be configured with multiple disk array enclosures. Data may be stored in various data storage devices. Data is transferred from one data storage device to another data storage device. Data may be transferred from one storage device to another storage device in one of many ways. For example, data may be transferred in a network environment from one hard disk drive to another hard disk drive on another computer system via a

Q: Trimming doesn't work in mPDF I'm trying to trim a string with (newline) at the end. This is working fine in MS Word but with mPDF I get this 'The End' Here's my code: $text = trim(preg_replace('/\s+$/', '', $text)); A: You can just replace the with a space: $text = preg_replace('/ $/', '', $text); Book Review: Unseen: A Memoir of the Cut and Run I wasn’t really sure what to expect from Unseen: A Memoir of the Cut and Run because, not really sure about most books that deal with gut wrenching subjects, I wasn’t sure what to expect but, as I said, I wasn’t sure what to expect. It’s a very hard thing to go through, as Caleb is quite literally put through the ringer but, before I delve in to the details, let me just give you a little bit of a run down of his life before and just how he became one of the most loved children in the world. Caleb is a child with cerebral palsy that is mostly caused by brain damage as a result of being starved, beaten and deprived of sufficient medical attention as a baby. He is a baby that never should have been born and never should have lived because, but for the good people who found him, he would have died from neglect. From being a healthy, happy, baby his troubles with life began. He was born ten minutes past his due date and was quite literally stillborn, a miracle given his time of birth. He was starved and beaten by his mother because she thought that if she starved him enough he would magically start feeling better. Which, by all accounts, it did. After about six months he was then taken away from his mother and placed with foster parents, one of which was the mother of his biological sister. For the next 10 years of his life he lived a terrible existence, with this foster mother not giving a crap about him. Just like his mother, he was starved and beaten and instead of being pulled out to change the state of her son, he was made to change her. Things got so bad that, in a vicious attack, he was set on fire
