An independent U.S. military commission ruled on Tuesday that a conviction of alleged Sept. 11 mastermind Khalid Sheikh Mohammed and four co-defendants could result in their executions. The decision sets up an imminent legal showdown, with the United States arguing that a U.S. District Court ruling in June 2008 prevented it from using military commissions to try Mohammed, but with the Al-Qaeda suspect's lawyers seeking to reverse that legal precedent before a potential Supreme Court appeal. The Justice Department did not immediately comment on the three-judge panel's decision or say whether it would appeal to the Supreme Court. Mohammed faces multiple charges, including conspiracy and murder, related to the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks against the United States. The five defendants were arrested in a joint U.S. Navy and Saudi Arabian raid on a large villa in Rawalpindi, Pakistan, in March 2003. l v e - 3 * p + 4 * v = - 5 * p + 1 8 , - 3 * p + v = 1 f o r p . 1 S o l v e - 4 * i = 2 * g + 2 2 , - 1 4 = 5 * g + 1 0 * i - 8 * i f o r g . - 1 S o l v e - 3 0 * f + 2 7 * f = 6 * s + 1 2 , 3 * s + f = - 8 f o r s . - 4 S
