Any ideas as to why this happens? I am not doing anything with the Serial Key, it is just a totally normal clean install, then the unlock. If I rename the txt file and the cron job, then it will work... I cannot understand why the Windows install will only work with the original text file then the cron job needs the original txt file name but when renamed it won't work then rename it and the cron job then works? Many thanks in advance, A: I can't determine why or where the issue is occurring. However, I found a work around to get this working with the following: "If you export your report to excel with correct name and size then go to the X page and enter the serial number, it will not need it before since it auto-writes it" You also need to "Import data back to the report" before running the unlocker. Q: Convert multidimensional array to string I have an array of arrays of strings. I need to convert it into a single array of strings, in a specific order. For example, I would like to get the result let header: [String] = ["PID","SCREEN","RESOLUTION","DESCRIPTION"] let content: [String] = ["1111","1222","3333","8667"] to let result: [String] = ["1111","1222","3333","8667","PID","SCREEN","RESOLUTION","DESCRIPTION"] I have tried to use flatMap() but with no luck. A: You can flatMap and map the elements. let result = content.flatMap { header }.map { $0 } Ember is now Unbreakable - craig99 ===== pier25 As an aspie, I'm so happy about this. Wanna know what the biggest struggle I have with apps I'm building is? That every single API that needs to be rendered is rendered with JavaScript. Then I have to write tests that cover all the JS I wrote. Then I have to manually test all the JS in all the views, templates, and components on production to ensure all the edge cases

I cannot seem to get the scanner to work. More answers: " 1. Launch the HP Scan software. 2. In the software select "Scan as a Document" 3. Under "Options" select the "File Type" and "Photocopy" under "PDF." 4. You should then be able to select the document you wish to scan. " 1) I took a picture of my print off.pdf using a.png. I scanned it with HP image and it seemed to work, but I am not sure. 2) The Scanner will not let me turn it on. It is not being recognized as a scanner. I have already tried putting in the Windows drivers and reinstalling it. Nothing is being detected. My HP printer shows up in my printers section, and I can see it in my options when I turn on my scanner, so I would think that there are no problems with the driver. I have a CD with Windows driver disks. When I boot my Macbook from it, it did not recognize the printer and I could not install the drivers. After struggling with it for a while I found
