Q: Do I need to request a US visa for international flight within Canada My girlfriend and I are going to fly from Vancouver, B.C. to Ottawa, Ontario. I am a US Citizen. We are going to return to Vancouver. We are not staying over night in Ottawa and return same day. My GF does not have a working visa as she is still in the process of applying. We are going back to the USA in the summer and the transit time will be about 3 days. Can I enter Canada with only a travel visa (we will have the visa document upon arrival in Canada). Does this include USA transit time? Thanks in advance for any and all help. A: According to Phil, the Canadian border officer you get will have discretion to decide whether your request for a transit visa gets you past the US border. Personally, I have been to Canada and went through the airport just fine without a visa - but if you mention an officer's surname, or make a joke in his ear, you could make his day.
