Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16.

Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children.

Features Include:

- Virtual World - Each user can create their own world with 3D graphics and physics, which can be explored, played and edited by other users.
- Platform Games - Players can create and play games on a Roblox platform, which supports a variety of game engines.
- Web Games - Thousands of games are available to be played and created on the Roblox website.
- Browser Games - A large selection of browser games are available, including massively multiplayer online games, card games and games centered around educational content.
- Internet Scavenger Hunt - Users compete against each other to find clues, complete tasks, and win prizes by earning Robux.
- Roblox Marketplace - Create and sell virtual in-game items, such as Robux, weapons, clothing, furniture and accessories to other players. Scripting - Through the Lua programming language, developers can create their own custom content, called "Scripts", for use in games. Robux - Robux is a virtual currency used to buy virtual items in the Roblox Marketplace. It is the in-game currency of Roblox and is earned through tasks, the Roblox Hunters game, and other promotions. CarPlay - Users can access Roblox through CarPlay on compatible Apple devices. Roblox Rock Band - Create custom songs by combining beats, melodies and lyrics through the creation of Lua Scripts. Gameplay Roblox requires players to create their own games, called "projects", which usually are based on
