

It has been a source of curiosity for many that why is it that the freeze dried organic acai form of the product is often preferred over others stating the reason being the fact that the method is the best way to retain the antioxidant powers of the berries. To understand the benefits of acai berry freeze dried powder completely, it is very important to know the scientific reasoning behind the process of preserving the freeze dried fruit supplier in the form of freeze dried acai berry powder. The whole of the process that is involved in the preservation of the same is based on the freeze-drying process which uses low heat, and thus helps in retaining almost all the nutrients of the fruit.